1. Recruiters' Conference: The annual recruiters' conference ended Friday at 12:30. The recruiters expressed general satisfaction with the contents of the conference and were pleased to receive an update on the organizational and personnel changes that have been made recently. They recommended that future conferences be held in the late spring since it would create fewer conflicts with Regional College Placement Association Conferences as well as preparation for the fall academic recruitment schedule. They made a number of other recommendations on recruitment procedures, techniques, methods, etc., which will be the subject of papers which will be forwarded from this office in the near future.

2. Longevity Awards Ceremony: D/Pers can report on the dry run and all in readiness.

3. Outplacement Success: During a business discussion between a member of External Employment Assistance Branch and a representative of the D. C. Manpower Commission, we mentioned EEAB's average score at "placement" -- roughly one out of 4.5. The representative of the Manpower Commission stated that considering the climate in the present employment market and the ages of our clients (not exactly youngsters just breaking into the market) we were racking up a good accomplishment.
